Additional Learning Support (ALS) for deaf or hard of hearing learners

At Northumberland College, we welcome applications from people who have learning, physical, mental health or sensory difficulties. We are committed to supporting all learners to achieve their learning goals and to developing our people, services and facilities to meet this commitment.

This leaflet provides information about the support we offer deaf and hard of hearing learners, to ensure that the College is a safe environment and that the learning experience is a positive one.

Individual needs differ and the College is committed to responding to individual learner requests wherever possible. We encourage you to inform us as soon as possible about any specific needs you have. We encourage you to ask about specific support you need, so we can support you in the most appropriate way.

The type of support we may be able to offer includes:

- An initial assessment of needs
- One to one support from a Learning Support Assistant (LSA) within the classroom or workshop/salon etc
- Note-takers
- Directed study in the Learning Resource Centre
- Assistance with specialist equipment as required
- Support with applying to examination access arrangements e.g. extra time, if appropriate
- Liaison with tutors to ensure that they are aware of your requirements in terms of course delivery. For example, facing you whenever possible if you lip read and providing detailed handouts/lecture notes, if appropriate
- If you require a specialist assessment we will endeavour to provide this in the most appropriate way

If you require the services of a BSL interpreter or communication support worker – we will endeavour to provide this specialist support. If you require this support to help you during your course interview and initial assessment we will require advance notice.

Additional Learning Support at Northumberland College

Learner Information Sheet

How do you let us know you have support needs?

- You can tick the relevant box on the college application form or enrolment form, giving details of your specific needs
- You or a nominated person can make enquiries on your behalf

What happens next?

- Once you have been referred for support – a member of the ALS team will meet you at your course interview, or make alternative arrangements, to assess your support needs with you
- The initial assessment will determine whether ALS is required and appropriate. If the outcome of the assessment confirms the need for ALS, a learner support plan will be agreed with you. This support plan will identify the support required
- The agreed support plan will be set up as soon as possible, depending on availability of specialist resources and learner need. Support can be provided during induction week, if required
- Support will be reviewed during the learning programme to determine whether the level of support continues to meet your requirements/needs. If necessary a revised learner support plan will be drawn up
